

Sticky: What Articles I'm Currently Writing (Updated regularly) Request Article topics Here!

Description

Last update: Feb 06

As the title says, this article will let everyone know what I'm working on and approximately how close new articles are to being released. Sometimes I get a bug about something and write/publish a whole article in a few days, but it'll usually show up here before publishing.

Also, if you have a request for an article topic, please leave it in the comments below. I may or may not write it, but the odds are much higher if you suggest it. I make no promises though.

Change log:

- February 06: I published the article on faith to patrons today, so it'll be released publicly on the 13th. Updated the description for the article on justification.
- January 29th: Added two new articles to working list below, and removed the one on if God punishes one man for another man's sins because it's published; you can read it here.
- December 30th: Yeah, it's been a while. I've had some health struggles and a move, but I'm better now and moved, so hopefully I'll be able to update this weekly or so.

Articles on which I'm currently working

To be clear, I only actively work on a few at a time, the rest get the short end of the stick. However, I thought you all might like to see what I'm working on, so here's a list. It's not a complete list, but these are the major ones.

Working articles (In rough order of priority)

- Article Series: The Biblical case for AND against Penal Substitutionary Atonement (PSA) This is something of an offshoot from my article about ignored reasons that Jesus died. I've had doubts about PSA ever since I read Ezekiel 18 many years ago, and other passages give me pause as well. It will take many articles to unpack completely and I have a rough outline in my intro to the PSA article series.
 - What is Faith? How does faith save us? This is a prelude containing the context for the following article about Justification. Most Christians today know that we are saved by faith, but far fewer know what faith is or how it saves us. We'll look at that in this article. The rough draft is done, and it's a little over 7k words currently.
 - What is Justification? What does "clothed in the righteousness of Christ" mean? Justification is part of PSA's 4th pillar, so we need to examine it before the end of the series. This will be a pretty in-depth look at it. I've started the research, but no word count yet.
 - The Early Church Fathers on Penal Substitutionary Atonement (with quotes AND context). This is part of the PSA series. Some say that the early church had never heard of PSA, some say they it was the only thing they taught. I will examine this in exhaustive (and likely exhausting) detail. (Update: there's a large element of ignoring context, ignoring the author's other works, and even some downright deceptive practices by the source most PSA guys use.)
- Is Peter the foundation of the (Catholic) Church? I had completely forgotten about this draft until recently. The passage that Catholics use to support the idea of Papal infallibility is Matthew 16, but the Greek grammar actually makes it impossible that Peter is the foundation of the church.
- Does the Mosaic Law still apply? What about mixed fabrics? Sex during Mensuration? The 10 Commandments? Suggested in the comments. No idea when I'll get to it, but it's on the list.
- Revelation Part 2: The Millennial Kingdom, The Rapture, etc. This would be a follow-up to my article on Revelation, covering the things that one didn't.
- The BOS Bible. Okay, this technically isn't an article, but I have an ongoing project to translate the New Testament from Greek to English. You can read what's done so far (~70% of the NT by word count, just Luke, Acts, and Revelation to go.) here: BOS Bible.com. I'm almost halfway through Luke as of November 2024, and I'm aiming to translate a chapter a week.

•••Back Burner•• articles. (I••ll probably get to them eventually, but they••re low priority right now.)

- The Masoretic Text (MT) vs the Septuagint (LXX) vs Dead Sea Scrolls. This would be a companion article to my article on New Testament textual criticism, this time looking at the Old Testament.
- Was Paul Always Single, Or Was He A Widower? Surprisingly, I think there••s solid evidence from the Bible itself that Paul was married at some point. His wife probably died, or possibly divorced him after he became a Christian, but that Paul was a widower seems most likely.
- Biblically, What••s the Role of Men in Society and Marriage? This one has been mostly complete for rather a long time, but something about it just feels ••off••. I don••t want to publish something that I can••t fully stand behind, so it••s been sitting for a while.
- Random other ones. I have a few dozen article drafts right now, mostly stubs or reminders to write articles on said topics. If you see something I••ve said I would write about that••s not on either list above, that••s probably where it is.

Prayer Requests

Yes, I••m shamelessly asking for prayer.

- My outreach. I have an outreach to unbelievers that••s anonymous so I won••t share any details, but please pray for it to be high-quality and effective in softening hearts towards God.
- Guidance for possibly starting a YouTube channel. Exactly that; I••m hoping to start one here in the near future, and would like wisdom on how to do it, the format, and especially how to do it while remaining at least partially anonymous.

Thank you for praying, and may God bless you richly for it.

God Bless,
Berean Patriot